OFFICIAL COUNT OF BALLOTS GIVEN

WALLACE AND LANDINI ELECTED AT PRIMARY; FARRELL DEFEATS HARDY FOR PLACE ON BALLOT; EKSWARD ALSO WINS

The full and complete count of the votes cast in the primary election was finished Saturday in the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash after nearly four days of arduous work. Later the totals were officially canvassed before the board of supervisors.

The official figures as now given out are different in a number of instances from those announced as complete the latter part of last week. The official tabulation showed L. G. Hardy, candidate for justice of the peace in the first township, to have 642 votes, while Edward Farrell, one of his opponents, received 659. This gives Farrell seventeen votes more than Hardy, while the first figures announced gave Hardy ten votes the advantage. This change will place Farrell's name on the November ballot in fourth place instead of Hardy's. As the count now stands in the justice of the peace contest the figures are as follows:

Johnson	1654
Smith	804
Brown	798
Farrell	659
Hardy	642
Emerick	544
Miller	541
Stoetzer	215

The contest over the office of constable in the first township resulted in the election of James C. Wallace of this city and Silvio A. Landini of Colma. As these two received a clear majority of the ballots cast at the election, they are elected without any contest in November. Wallace polled the largest number of votes in the first township of any candidate in the field, making a remarkable run in practically every precinct in the township.

The official count of the votes in the constables' fight gave the following result:

Wallace	2038
Landini	1933
Dennis	1112
Bauer	809

H. W. Lampkin received a good majority over each of his two opponents in the race for sheriff, the result being as follows:

Lampkin	5292
Roach	4031
Hirschey	1963

A spirited contest between Lampkin and Roach is predicted in the general election.

Frank L. Eksward, present assemblyman, received the nomination on both Republican and Democratic tickets, thus assuring his election. The figures in this contest are as follows:

Eksward	3434
Hallinan	2087
Jones	1867

The county as a whole gave Governor Stephens 4381 votes to Friend W. Richardson's 3739, while Senator Johnson received 5238 votes to C. C. Moore's 3388.

A large complimentary vote was given every office holder of the county who had no opponent. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Nash, county clerk, was given the highest of any of those who were unopposed, 8810 ballots being cast for her.

NEWS-LEADER GIVES INTERVIEW WITH W. J. MARTIN

The San Mateo News-Leader of Tuesday published a lengthy interview with W. J. Martin of this city, in which Mr. Martin gives it as his opinion that there is nothing far-fetched in the idea of a New York engineering firm constructing a toll bridge across the bay from Coyote Point. Mr. Martin expressed the heartiest good will of this city toward the towns farther down the peninsula and the willingness of all here to co-operate in all that will further the interests of this region.

CITY TRUSTEES HOLD SHORT SESSION

With All Members Present Routine Business Is Quickly Put Through the Official Mill.

The meeting of the city trustees, held this week Tuesday evening because of Monday being a holiday, found all members in their seats. The meeting was short, only routine business being disposed of, and adjournment was taken before 9 o'clock.

At a recent meeting City Clerk McSweeney was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to Fire Chief Thomas Murphy of San Francisco, thanking him for the assistance given by a fire boat from the city at the time of the blaze of the Western Pipe and Steel plant. Tuesday evening a letter was read from Chief Murphy acknowledging the receipt of this letter and expressing the friendliest sentiments toward this city. Chief Murphy expressed himself as always willing to give assistance on such occasions as the fire mentioned.

The soft drink license of C. Johnson, who operates a restaurant on Grand avenue near the S. P. depot, was revoked. Recently on complaint of City Marshal Conrad that Johnson was not conducting his place of business properly, he was cited to appear before the board and show cause why his license should not be revoked. He failed to appear, and lost his license as a consequence.

A communication from the League of Municipalities called attention to the annual convention to be held at Palo Alto from September 19th to the 23d, and to the many important matters to be discussed. It is probable that most of the board members and city officials will attend.

A letter from an organization calling itself "Screen Service Bureau" asked permission to hold a dance here. Several members expressed disapproval of granting dance permits to people of whom nothing is known, and City Clerk McSweeney was instructed to write asking who the Screen Service Bureau is and what was the object of the proposed dance.

Reports for the month of August were received from the chief of police and city clerk and several bills against the city were audited and ordered paid.

HUGE BRIDGE PROJECT WILL BE DISCUSSED

Meeting at Burlingame Planned for Friday Evening.

A meeting will be held at Burlingame city hall Friday evening to acquaint people of this region with the plans of a big New York engineering firm for the building of a toll bridge across the bay from Coyote Point near San Mateo. This meeting will be attended by members of the 100 Per Cent Club of San Francisco and many other representatives of interests that are boosting for the Coyote Point bridge.

It has been stated that Major F. E. Webb of New York City will arrive in San Francisco the latter part of this month to personally investigate the bridge location. Major Webb is one of the New Yorkers who expect to give the big bridge their financial backing.

The project since its inception has been enlarged, it now being intimated that it may include an electric railroad from Hayward on the east side of the bay through San Mateo and on to Halfmoon Bay.

Plans will be fully outlined at Burlingame Friday night. Among the speakers who will appear will be Andrew Lawrence of the San Francisco Journal.

CHARLES E. VIRDEN SPEAKS BEFORE ADVERTISING CLUB

Charles E. Virden, head of the Virden Packing Company of this city, addressed the San Francisco Advertising Club at a luncheon at the Palace Hotel Wednesday. Mr. Virden spoke on the "Sacramento Valley and Its Relation to San Francisco," emphasizing the importance of the valley to the big city by the Golden Gate.

INDEPENDENT POSTOFFICE NOW SEEMS ASSURED FOR SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

The good news that South San Francisco is about to be granted an independent postoffice by the Postoffice Department at Washington was received by F. A. Cunningham of this city this (Thursday) morning in a letter from Congressman Arthur M. Free. The letter also suggests the appointment of L. G. Hardy of this city as postmaster. The letter reads as follows:

Washington, Sept. 2, 1922.

Mr. F. A. Cunningham,
South San Francisco.

My Dear Mr. Cunningham:

I have today secured the promise of the Postoffice Department to establish an independent postoffice at South San Francisco on September 29th or 30th.

Is Mr. Hardy available to take charge at once?

Very truly yours,

A. M. FREE.

Some time ago, when special efforts were being made by the local Chamber of Commerce to secure an independent postoffice here, a petition to have Mr. Hardy appointed postmaster was circulated and received many signers. Mr. Hardy stated this morning he was prepared to take charge immediately.

For the last few months the prospect of getting the postoffice has seemed less bright. Mr. Free, however, has apparently never lessened his efforts in behalf of the plan and now seems to have met with success. That the independent office has been promised in such a short time as the end of this month has created much surprise. O. Campbell, superintendent of the local office, stated to The Enterprise that he has not yet received any official notice of the contemplated change.

The credit for securing an independent status for the local office can be given to the local Chamber of Commerce. Since the office was made a branch of the San Francisco office, October 1, 1917, the Chamber has put forth untiring efforts to have it made an independent office again. Over a year ago it enlisted the services of Senator Shortridge and Congressman Free to the same end.

Further developments in the matter may be expected within a very few days.

PACIFIC COAST STEEL COMPANY'S PLANT TO BE DOUBLED IN SIZE AND CAPACITY

That plans are practically completed that will embody the enlargement of the local plant of the Pacific Coast Steel Company to practically double its present size and capacity, was the announcement in San Francisco Wednesday. The announcement states that incorporation papers had been filed in Delaware of a new $40,000,000 steel company, which named San Francisco as the principal manufacturing center. The new corporation is to be known as the Pacific Steel Corporation and is financed entirely by San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Salt Lake banking institutions.

Complete transition of steel from iron ore to the fabricated product will be the object of the new corporation, and in the carrying out of this plan it is announced that a pig iron plant, costing more than $7,500,000, is to be erected immediately in Utah. The pig iron plant will be erected on immense iron ore and coal deposits in that state, already acquired by the corporation, and will serve as a source of supply for raw materials for the completed manufacture of fabricated iron here.

At the same time the South San Francisco plant of the Pacific Coast Steel Company, already the largest of its kind west of the Rockies, is to be enlarged to practically double its present capacity, and other plants owned by the same company in Seattle and Portland also are to be enlarged materially.

Joining with the Pacific Steel Company in the new corporation also is the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, with large plants already located in Los Angeles and San Diego.

Also said to be allied with the new corporation for the complete production and manufacture of steel on the Pacific Coast is the Milner Corporation of Utah, of which A. T. Milner of Salt Lake City is the head, and which owns vast coal and iron ore properties in that state.

T. T. C. Gregory, San Francisco counsel for the gigantic new corporation, briefly outlined its plans, saying in part:

"The object of the new corporation will be the complete manufacture of steel from raw material to finished products on the Pacific Coast.

"At the present time there is no pig iron manufactured west of the Rocky Mountains and plants already here are dependent upon the East for their supply of both pig iron and coke.

"The combination of steel companies will also provide for the acquiring of immensely valuable iron ore and coal deposits in Utah, which will be utilized as a source of supply for raw materials.

"The object of the new corporation will be: First, to establish and build up a pig iron industry and source of supply in Utah, and, with this accomplished, to increase and expand the present steel manufacturing industry on the Pacific Coast."

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS.

J. V. Ron, proprietor of the Hotel Espana on San Bruno road, has purchased the property on which the Grand Hotel at 225 San Bruno road stands. The purchase was made from Thomas Kelley of San Francisco.

ARE YOU PAID UP?

How does your subscription to The Enterprise stand? Have you received a notice lately that your subscription is due? Remember that when you pay up for either a year or six months you will be given a pass for two people to any one of several San Francisco theaters. Your subscription for a year will cost $2.50, or $1.25 for six months. The pass is worth from 75 cents to $1. Pay up, and spend a pleasant evening at the theater with husband, wife or friend.

JOHNSON GETS VICTORY IN NEW JERSEY TUESDAY

According to press dispatches Floyd Johnson, heavyweight boxer of this city, scored another victory in the East Tuesday. The bout took place at Newark, N. J.

The dispatch follows:

"Floyd Johnson of California knocked out Joe McCann in the sixth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here Tuesday night after a hard and bloody battle in which McCann was sent to the floor for the count of nine on five different occasions. The contest was stopped by the referee.

"It was Johnson's first fight in New Jersey, and his third since arriving in the East from the Pacific Coast. He had plenty of speed, a good wallop in either hand and showed an ability to take punishment."

Franklin Doak, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Doak, is confined to his bed as a result of having run a rusty nail into his foot last week.

SUPERVISORS SET TAX RATE FOR YEAR '22-'23

New Rate Is 33 Cents Higher Than Last Year; So. S. F. to Daly City Road Provided For.

That the constructing of a road from South San Francisco to Daly City and also the building of a levee to protect San Bruno road in the hollow south of this city are assured appeared Tuesday, when the county supervisors set the tax rate for the coming year. In the new rate provision is made for both projects mentioned, and also for the surveying and acquiring of rights of way for the proposed Eastside highway.

The rate for the coming year was set at $2.87 per $100 assessed valuation of property outside of incorporated cities and $2.37 per $100 inside of such cities. This rate is 33 cents higher than the rate of last year.

The principal portion of the increase is made up of a 25-cent tax for the furnishing of the new San Mateo County Community Hospital of Beresford. Also .04 for four months' maintenance of the hospital, .028 for repairing the Halfmoon Bay to Tunitas road, .03 for the survey and acquiring of rights of way for the Eastside highway, .085 for the Pescadero to Santa Cruz county line road fund, .028 for the opening and surfacing of a road from Daly City to South San Francisco, and .014 for the building of a levee on the westerly side of the road from San Bruno to South San Francisco, where the several years the water from the winter storms has flooded the highway.

For the furnishing of the new county hospital now nearing completion a tax of .25 was set, which will provide $88,280 for this purpose. For the maintenance of the institution for four months the tax of .04 will provide $12,000.

For the repairing of the Halfmoon Bay to Tunitas road, the sum of approximately $10,000 will be raised by a tax of .028, while a tax of .03 for the Eastside highway survey will bring in $10,503. The estimated cost of the levee on the San Bruno-South San Francisco road is $5000.

For the resurfacing and repairing

COLUMBUS TO LAND AT PACIFIC CITY

K. of C. to Stage Brilliant Affair at New Beach Resort.

A big gathering of people is expected to attend the Columbus Day celebration to be held at Pacific City, Sunday, October 8th, according to the announcement made by Lawrence Cahill, general chairman of the K. of C. event committee. The celebration will be staged under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus of California, the San Mateo Knights, headed by Thomas J. Branson, grand knight, arranging the preliminary details of the program.

"The Landing of Columbus," a spectacular pageant depicting the landing of Columbus at San Salvador, will be a big feature of the celebration. The event will be staged under the direction of Horace W. Amphlett of San Mateo. The discovery of America will be followed out in careful detail with 1000 actors in costume taking part in the affair.

Special low rates will be made by the various railroads and bus lines entering the beach resort, which will assure a record crowd. A corps of speakers will call at the K. of C. councils in many California cities extending an invitation to the "Caseys" and their friends. Special band concerts, competitive drills and musical features have been arranged by a special committee. Captain Harry Maloney of Stanford University will have charge of the athletic events, which will include track and field sports, baseball, swimming, boxing and wrestling. He will be assisted by Lieutenant John J. Casey.

Members of the committee in charge of the celebration include: Lawrence M. Cahill (general chairman), Rev. James Grant, Joseph Hahir, Edward Kinsley, Comte E. O'Connell, J. J. Jones, Thomas J. Branson, J. J. McGrath, Horace W. Amphlett, Leo Keith, John P. Duffy, Jerry Hastings, Captain Maloney, Lieutenant Casey, John Shields, Frank Meyer, Joseph Ruegg and R. L. McWilliams.

BUYERS TAKING COUPONS UP FAST

HAVE YOU A LITTLE COUPON IN YOUR HOME? MERCHANTS ARE FINDING BRISK DEMAND FOR BLUE PRIZE-GETTERS.

The "Buy at Home" campaign started last week by the South San Francisco Merchants' Association promises to be the biggest thing of its kind ever held in this region. The little blue coupons that are being given out with purchases are being snapped up fast by buyers, and several merchants who had them last Friday and Saturday have stated that the public is taking a keen interest in the big prize-giving campaign.

The first prize given away by the association will find its owner on Friday evening of this week. This prize will be a $20 merchandise order, redeemable at the store of any member of the association. The drawing will be held at the Royal Theater. Remember, that to have a chance at this splendid prize you must exchange the coupons given you with your purchases for number-bearing certificates. These certificates are of the denomination of $10, and show that the person holding each one has made $10 worth of purchases of members of the Merchants' Association. Each certificate is numbered and has a numbered stub. This stub will be removed by the store making the sale or exchange for coupons and deposited in a sealed box. At stated periods the drawing of a stub will be held at the Royal Theater. The holder of the certificate having the corresponding number will receive the prize.

These prizes are only part of the big scheme of prizes as planned, however. Just before Christmas several large prizes, the total of which will be several hundred dollars, will be awarded the persons having the greatest number of certificates, the second greatest, third, fourth and fifth. This makes an array of prizes well worth working and saving for. At the same time, while accumulating the coupons and certificates, you have the satisfaction of knowing you are helping your home-town merchants and through them South San Francisco.

A note of warning should be sounded concerning this coupon-giving campaign. Coupons are being given out by several stores in this city which have no connection with this campaign and do not participate in these prizes. These are of various colors and are issued by firms in San Francisco. The coupons issued by the South San Francisco Merchants' Association are on blue paper and each has the name of the South San Francisco Merchants' Association printed on it. Be sure you get the right coupons. Ask for them.

The following stores now have the coupons and will give you yours when you make a purchase:

A. T. Arndt.
The Hub.
Greenberg's.
Scampini's.
Peninsula Drug Store.
Columbia Meat Market.
Baden Cash Store.
Curusis Bros.

COLMA COMMUNITY CENTER STARTS DRIVE FOR FUNDS

The community center at Colma has started a campaign for funds to erect a building for its activities on a lot adjoining the public library at Colma. This lot now belongs to the community center. In publicity matter the directors of the center are sending out, the following pithy points are emphasized as to what the center is and what it stands for:

1. It guarantees freedom of thought and freedom in its expression.
2. It aims at unity, not uniformity, and accentuates resemblances, not differences.
3. It is organized democratically, with the right to learn by making mistakes.
4. It is free from the domination of money, giving the right of way to character and intelligence.
5. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-exclusive, both in purpose and practice.
6. Its members realize that nothing will run itself, unless it is running downhill.
7. That to get anywhere it is necessary to start from where you are.
8. That the thing to be done is more important than the method of doing it.
9. That the water in a well cannot be purified by painting the pump.
10. It realizes that progress is possible only when there is mental hospitality to new ideas.

A LETTER OF THANKS FROM W. J. SMITH

South San Francisco, Calif.,
Sept. 5, 1922.

To the Voters of First Township, San Mateo County—Ladies and Gentlemen: I wish very sincerely to thank the many friends who worked and voted in my behalf at the primary election on August 29th last. Owing to the fact that there were a large number of candidates for the office of justice of the peace, I feel that I have gained a great victory in securing second place in the running, and I hope to continue in the good graces of all at the coming contest in November.

Again thanking you all, I remain, respectfully,

WILLIAM J. SMITH,
Incumbent candidate for justice of the peace.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the Voters of South San Francisco: In behalf of myself and my family I wish to thank you for your assistance in placing my name on the November ballot.

Circumstances prevented my doing much campaigning, and therefore the splendid vote which enabled me to win out in this, the town I've claimed as home for the past twenty-six years, leaves us especially grateful, and I assure you that, if elected in November, I will earnestly endeavor to so conduct the office of justice of the peace that all who tendered me support will have no cause to regret the confidence they placed in me.

EDWARD FARRELL.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express thanks to all those friends of the late Guiseppe Storling who contributed to the fund used to defray his funeral and burial expenses.

P. BONALANZA
and Committee.

LICENSED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Louis A. Renner, 26, San Francisco, and Katherine Schelbert, 21, of Colma.

Therefore, a Third.

A farm hand rented a field from his boss with the stipulation that the rent was to be one-fourth of the crop raised. At harvest time the farmer was amazed to find that he received nothing at all in exchange for the field. The farm hand hauled three loads of produce to his own barn, so the farmer remonstrated. "How's this? Wasn't I to get a fourth of the crop?" he demanded in righteous indignation. "Yes, you was," candidly rejoined the tenant, "but as it turned out there was only three-fourths."

"RAWTHER DEEP, YOU KNOW"

Introducing London's Latest Particular Wheeze as a Test of American Sophistication.

Says Sinclair Lewis, back from Europe with the manuscript of a sequel to "Main Street": "If I had the power I'd make Henry Mencken the pope of America. He spreads just the message of sophistication that we need so badly."

How badly we need this sophistication every American home can determine for itself by a safe and simple experiment. Mr. Lewis brought back with him London's latest wheeze. After the dishes are cleared away the head of the family can try it on his flock. It runs like this:

One chap says to another:

"Oh, I say, isn't that girl at that table the same one we saw lawst night?"

"I cawn't say. The tablecloth is too long."

If the flock gets the point it is adequately sophisticated. If the point escapes them and leaves them pained and puzzled it is a sign that this family, at least, would be benefited by a Menckian pontificate, for Henry spreads not only a "message of sophistication," but other things as well.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

MAY BE "LAST OF EMPIRES"

Distinction, in All Likelihood, Has Been Reserved for the Realm of the Mikado.

The imperial circle, as it might be called, is narrowing. Russia, Germany, Austria, Turkey have all passed into the twilight.

Ordinarily you do not associate the emperor business with King George, because he is the essence of the democratic spirit, and England is to all intents and purposes a crowned republic. Besides, it is not among the impossibilities that self determination will some day pluck the jewel that Beaconsfield placed upon the diadem of Queen Victoria when he made her empress of India. Japan may be the last of the empires.

So far as it is humanly possible to predict anything in these cataclysmic times, Japan will remain an empire. The zeal for the royal family—it is almost fanaticism—leaves no doubt as to this eventuality. Thus, unlike some of his European colleagues, Prince Hirohito is sure of his succession if he lives. He need never worry about radical intrigue.—Isaac F. Marcosson in the Saturday Evening Post.

In His Father's Steps.

Several years ago a great man, now gone, walked in Rock Creek park.

He delighted to plow through brush, wade in the creek and take unsuspecting friends on long hikes.

On his return, walking at a rapid pace down Sixteenth street, he always had a smile and a wave of the hand for the children who greeted him along the way.

He put the cares of his great office away when he went out to play.

The other day three men, one in the lead, came walking up rapidly from Rock creek and cut around the base of the lion house hill in the zoo.

The leader was bare-headed and had on an old red sweater.

"Come on, Nicky," he called to a man behind him.

So the party disappeared around the hill, led by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.—Washington Star.

Music Increases Egg Supply.

Two young lady graduates of Toronto university are the owners of a poultry farm a few miles east of Toronto. They have been very successful. To lovers of music one of the ladies recently said something that is very interesting.

"Do you know that hens love music? Some time ago a ferret got into our henhouse and terrified our hens so much that the eggs fell off from 150 to 75 a day and we couldn't get them back to normal. One day a girl who was staying with us was working for several hours in the henhouse and she sang lustily the while. There was a marked improvement in the number of eggs, and we continued the experiment with success. We afterward heard of a farmer who installed a gramophone for his hens and got 3 per cent more eggs as a result."—Exchange.

Wasn't, but He Did.

One day as I was sitting in the window I saw a man coming up the street dressed like a farmer. Now I had but a few minutes before seen a goose trying to fly over the bushes in the yard.

As the man seemed to be looking for something, I called out to him: "Are you looking for a goose?"

He stopped short and gazed suspiciously, as much as to say, "Well, it looks as if I'd found one."—Exchange.

Improvement on Tractor.

A new attachment designed to give the small tractor greater bearing area and increased pulling power, replaces the round wheels with two large sprockets, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. Outside of each sprocket is a cast-steel arm which projects forward and downward, carrying at its front end a smaller idler wheel. A track tread passes around the sprocket and idler wheel, giving the tractor increased bearing area.

Not Natural.

There is at present a good deal of criticism of our girls, but after all one can't expect a chicken to be as wise as an owl.—Boston Transcript.

Home-Town Criticism.

Chauncey Depew tells this one on Melville E. Ingalls, who as a railroad president had combined and rehabilitated several bankrupt lines. Ingalls returned for a rest to the little Maine village where he was born, and at the hot stove senate in the general store an old farmer said: "Melville, they do tell that yer gettin' a salary of nigh on to $10,000 every year." Ingalls, who was drawing several times that sum, admitted the ten thousand, whereupon the old farmer observed: "Well, that jes shows what luck an' cheek will dew fer a feller."—Boston Globe.

2nd of the Seven Points of Supremacy "Sock-Saver"

The Inside Counter Pocket Saves the Price of the Shoes

The calfskin inside counter pocket is a practical refinement found in Edmonds "Foot-Fitter" Shoes. This piece of soft leather saves many pairs of socks, which with ordinary shoes, wear out at the heel due to constant rubbing on a duck lining. It also prevents blistering at the heel, makes the shoes easier to slip on and gives them perfect inside finish.

Figuring the many months that a pair of "Foot-Fitters" will serve you, the inside counter pocket will save the price of the shoes by protecting your socks from wear.

There are six other points of supremacy which you can only buy in Edmonds "Foot-Fitter" Shoes. They make these reasonably priced shoes especially worthy of your consideration. Visit our store the next time you need a pair of shoes. We'll make good our claim that "Foot-Fitters" are the best shoe buy for you.

By sheer good luck Mr. and Mrs. Fred Madden escaped a possible serious accident this week. While motoring over the mountain highways across the bay, they swerved too far aside at a narrow point of the road to make room for an approaching car, with the result that they would have been hurled down a steep embankment but for a tree which prevented their machine from tipping over.

If you wish to spend an enjoyable time, don't fail to attend the Admission Day celebration Saturday at the Uncle Tom's Cabin grove, San Bruno. A grand parade will take place in the forenoon, in which "Queen Marguerite" and her maids of honor will be the main attraction. Various contests and other attractions will tend to enliven the day, and with all the organizations of our fair city actively participating in the celebration there should be no occasion for a dull moment. Come early and stay late. Dancing at the hall.

That the big eucalyptus trees along public thoroughfares are a menace to safety was again proven last Friday evening, when a heavy limb of a tree beside the Cabin Garage crashed down and fell across the state highway, breaking light and telephone wires, interrupting traffic and damaging a car standing underneath it. Scarcely had the street been cleared when a second smaller limb off the same tree fell on the same machine, inflicting additional damage. Luckily no one was in harm's way.

Strenuous Sawdust Story.

F. M. Davenport, professor of political science at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., once made a speech before the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. After speaking of the newspaper as an organ of democracy, fraternity and equality, Professor Davenport concluded with this parable:

"Once there was a country newspaper man who mixed sawdust with the meal he fed his hens. He thought they would never know the difference. But they got even. When he came to set the eggs, half the brood hatched were woodpeckers. Whatsoever a newspaper soweth, that shall it also reap."

REDUCE DANGERS FROM FIRE

When one reads the annual losses running into many millions of dollars caused by matches, cigar and cigarette stubs and pipe ashes, one cannot but marvel at the lack of interest shown by the manufacturers of these articles in educating smokers to the dangers of fire. Practically every package of matches, tobacco, cigarettes or cigars has printed literature in the package or around the article in question.

So far only one manufacturer of cigarettes in the United States is co-operating in the campaign for fire reduction. The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company is putting a tag in its cigarette packages which says, "Be sure to extinguish match, cigar or cigarette before throwing away."

Supposing all match boxes, cigarette packages, cigar boxes and cigar labels included in the printed matter on these articles a warning in red letters in regard to the danger of fire.

It would cost the companies practically nothing additional to do this. As manufacturers of articles causing fire hazards they would be showing their sincerity and carefulness where the best interest of the public was involved. Incidentally they might eliminate drastic regulations relative to their products which may develop in the future.

Why not co-operate in the beginning, gentlemen, instead of waiting until you may be forced to do so?—Industrial Bureau.

NEWS-LEADER EXPANDS

The News-Leader of San Mateo, which has been issued as an eight-page, five-column newspaper, appeared for the first time last Friday as an eight-page, seven-column publication. Friday's enlarged issue was printed on the News-Leader's new Goss Comet press, the first brought into this county. The paper is now installed in a new building of its own. This popular newspaper has made rapid progress under the management of the present editor and proprietor, Ed Riggins. The Enterprise takes pleasure in extending congratulations.

Many people prefer to pay by check. It is less agonizing than letting the cash slip through their fingers.

Political Chaos

Who doubts for a moment that there is at this time more or less political chaos in this country?

The political chaos of this country is approaching the political confusion in other parts of the world.

We haven't political parties today as they were understood at one time in the history of this country. We have what might be called political organizations carrying the names of ancient political parties.

In other words, the political parties have a name to live but they are dead.

The reason they are in this condition is because they have abandoned great fundamental principles of government, and doctrines of the Constitution. They abandoned them hoping that they might surrender principles for policies.

You can't build a great party on a policy; it must be builded on a principle.

If the parties of this country are to be revived and invigorated you must injeot into their backbone the virus of inviolable principles, fundamental doctrines, constitutional programs.

Men tell you that the reason for the chaotic political situation of today is the primary election law. They say that the direct primary has destroyed party organization and responsibility. They want the primary law repealed. The primary law will not be repealed. It ought to be amended and in the following particular:

FIRST: Amend the law by creating the right to hold a PRE-primary party convention. If the party would meet in a pre-primary convention and nominate a ticket this would not prevent any individual or any number of individuals from using the provision of the direct primary law and filing their declaration of candidacy for office.

It would have the effect, however, of making the individual stand alone, on his merits, and independent of party support.

The pre-primary convention would file its slate under the same provision. When that slate was filed, the candidate under that filing would have the support, indorsement, and influence of the party.

In that way you would crystalize the party, restore its organization, responsibility, and accountability, and at the same time you would preserve to the individual the right to file independently under the primary law.

SECOND: You ought to amend the primary law and raise the qualifications for office. Men who are not qualified for the position have no right to be elected. If you want to save representative government raise the standard of office holders.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

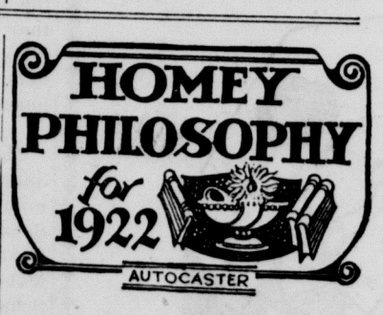
POOR OLD U. S.

Accordin' to palaver, which we seldom fail to hear, we're totterin' on the brink of certain doom. . . . We're hoverin' o'er the stage of dissolution, mighty near,—We're flounderin' in the shadder of our tomb! We're due to have a panic, an' a universle strike,—we'll never see the taxes any lower. . . . The cattle market's busted—O, you never seen the like,—and every bloomin' bank will close its door! There won't be any money, an' there won't be any coal. . . . They tell us in their every-day palaver,—we can't escape calamity, to save our little soul, or add another woe to our cadaver. . . .

. . . It's true the crops is splendid, and the medder-grass is tall; the country's full of everything to eat. . . . Old Dobbin seems to fatten in his sanitary stall—the souper-sixes crowd him off the street! The golf-link an' the movie-show is peopled to their gates,—The billion-dollar prize-fight draws the crowd. . . . The biggest diamond market is in these United States, where jewelry that's phony ain't allowed! But we mustn't let delusions shet out the awful truth, that poverty has got us by the pants. . . . The crack of doom pursues us, like a never-failin' sleuth—we haven't even got a fightin' chance!

From Uncle John.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922



There was a man out in Long Island a week or so ago who took a horse around to a chap that runs a riding academy and he offered to sell the animal at a bargain.

"What's wrong with it?" asked the riding master. "Why, nothing," said the man with the horse. "It's really a fine animal for riding or driving. It's gentle, has lots of spirit and good staying power." The riding master asked the man why he wanted to sell it. "Well," he said, "my wife now has a baby and since she has the baby she has no time to take care of the horse." There were folk who criticized that man forgetting that it's a nice thing to be kind to animals and see they fall into good hands.

When a woman tells a fellow that her heart is broken it is time for him to duck. She is looking for a repair man.

It is possible, though, that some people have to keep their good resolutions because nobody else wants them.

The smallest rung of the ladder is always at the top. There are not so many to occupy it.

Cheerful News.

"When you go to New Zealand I wish you would inquire after my great-grandfather, Jeremiah Thompson." "Certainly," said the traveler. And wherever he went he asked for news of the ancestor, but without avail. One day he was introduced to a fine old Maori of advanced age. "Did you ever meet with an Englishman named Jeremiah Thompson?" he asked. A smile passed over the Maori's face. "Meet him?" he replied. "Why, I ate him!"

Long Expected.

An apartment house on Riverside Drive, New York City, which goes in for heavy English service recently blossomed out with a new flunkey. A gentleman calling for Mrs. Brown was detained with the customary, "Is Mrs. Brown expecting you?" The caller blasted the new doorman with a glance. "My good man," was the unexpected answer, "Mrs. Brown was expecting me before I was born. She's my mother."

A Smoker's Advice.

A woman of the most unmistakably conservative type had accidentally got into the railway coach reserved for smokers. With ill-concealed indignation she saw the man next to her fill his pipe. "Sir," she said frigidly, "smoking always makes me ill." "Does it, ma'am?" was the polite rejoinder. "Take my advice and give it up."

of the Pescadero to Santa Cruz county line road, the sum of $30,000 is to be raised by a tax of .085. This is listed in the tax levy as to replace the amount used from the fund for other purposes as raised by the .23 tax of last year. The tax of .23 would have raised approximately $80,553.73 for this road, but as all special taxes of this character go into the general fund and must be transferred by resolution of the board by four-fifths vote, when the appropriation was made last year the resolution only carried $50,000 of the amount raised by the tax. The balance of the money has been used for other purposes from the general fund.

The tax of .028 for the construction of the road from Daly City to South San Francisco will raise approximately $10,000. This amount will provide for the foundation of the road, it being the intention later on to cover the foundation with pavement.

The general fund tax for the year is set at .292, or .008 less than last year's tax. Other taxes were set in accordance with the estimate of Auditor J. J. Shields as submitted last week.

HOW

SQUIRRELS ARE USED TO WORK FOR GOVERNMENT.

—In conducting its extensive experiments to discover the best way to reforest waste lands or burnt-over forest lands the forest service has need of large quantities of forest-tree seeds, especially of the cone-bearing varieties. Since these trees do not bear evenly every year, it is necessary for economic reasons to ascertain in advance what species will furnish good seed crops each year, as well as to undertake the gathering operations in regions where the cones are likely to be most abundant. For these reasons information is collected as to the bearing and conditions of the trees in different parts of the national forests, sometimes as much as two or three years in advance. This is possible because many of the species of pines take from two to three years to ripen their cones.

When lumbering is proceeding at the time of seed-ripening it is a comparatively simple matter to gather the cones from the felled trees. But when the trees are to remain standing it is sometimes a rather difficult task to get the cones without climbing the trees. A great deal can be accomplished with hooks or knives attached to long poles, but the forest rangers have learned to make use of nature's own seed-collectors for their purposes. Plenty of cones are found in the seed stores of the squirrels. This seems to be a very economical way for Uncle Sam to obtain his forest seeds.

Not only is this method convenient, but it has the further advantage of furnishing the best seeds. The squirrels apparently place in their hoards only high-grade cones. Moreover, the squirrels put their supplies away so early that it is possible for the foresters to come back to the squirrels' reserves after the cones still on the trees have opened up and scattered their seeds. The red squirrel is the best collector; in many of the holes of this species it is possible to find from eight to ten bushels of cones of good quality. The average quantity found in a single-cache is about two bushels. Other animals also store away seeds and cones, especially chipmunks and wild mice.

STORKS MAY BECOME EXTINCT

How Practice of South African Farmers Works Havoc With the Dutch "National Bird."

For centuries the stork has been the "national bird" of the Dutch. The majority of Dutch farmers erect nesting platforms for these well-liked birds. The stork is altogether desirable, and inasmuch as stork meat is not good eating the species has not been molested by sportsmen. Yet for several years the storks of Holland have been becoming fewer and fewer. Only recently has the reason been discovered.

The Dutch storks winter in South Africa. In the Transvaal, where, by an odd coincidence, most of the people are of Dutch descent, the farmers have been waging war against grasshoppers by covering their fields with poisoned bait. The grasshoppers eat the poison, the storks eat the grasshoppers. Thus there is a high mortality rate in the stork family, and if it is not checked both Holland and the Transvaal will soon be storkless lands.

How Engineering Tests Are Planned.

A small river upon which engineering tests can be performed will be created at Washington by government engineers if a bill introduced in Congress by Senator Ransdell of Louisiana is passed. Engineers believe that the scientific side of river hydraulics has not kept pace with the research and experimentation which has accompanied other branches of engineering, and they are urging the laboratory as provided in the Ransdell bill.

The recent disastrous floods of the lower Mississippi, the threatening attitude of the Colorado river and other periodic floods in this country are factors that are calling attention to need of more extensive study of flood control.

How Big Vessel Was Salvaged.

One of the most novel and ingenious instances of salvage was provided at Folkestone, England, some time ago. A vessel caught fire, and was sunk deliberately close to the quay. She turned over on her side, and the only difficulty that presented itself in the salvage operations was the question of how to get her righted. This obstacle was overcome by attaching wires to five large locomotives on land. These, when all was ready, pulled the ship over.

On another occasion, a sunken vessel was cut in two while under water, raised to the surface, fitted with new bulkheads, and brought home to be fitted together again.

TELEPHONE COMPANY INSTALLING NEW CABLE

A crew of twenty-two men in charge of J. H. Grennan has been at work the last week stringing a new telephone cable between this city and San Francisco. The new line was necessitated by the great growth of the telephone company's business between this city and San Francisco and is designed to facilitate the toll connections between the two cities. It is expected that the new line will be in working condition by the end of this month.

A second crew is installing a new cable between South San Francisco and San Bruno, and within the next few months this cable will be extended still farther south.

Representatives of the company state that the telephone business out of the central station in this city has shown a marked growth in the last year.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT.

Madeo Castiglio of this city has announced his engagement to Miss Anita Demartini of San Francisco. The wedding date has not been set.

Superfluous.

Walter Camp, the famous athlete and trainer, was talking about rough football.

"One of the roughest players Yale ever turned out," he said, "went west to work on a ranch. The cowboys, having heard of his fame, asked him to teach them football.

"So the Yale man made up two husky elevens, explained the rules and wound up with:

"'Mind, men, if you can't kick the ball kick an opponent. Now let's get busy. Where's the ball?'

"'Oh, drat the ball,' said a cowboy; let's get on with the game.'"

Troubles must be married. You know they never come singly.

HOW

CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM CONFOUNDED THE TURKS. —When Allenby entered Jerusalem for Christmas, 1917, unarmed and on foot, he stirred the mysticism of three great religions—the Christian, the Jewish and the Moslem—and even the most skeptical were reduced to a silence not far removed from awe, P. W. Wilson writes in the World's Work.

As Dr. John Finley has told us, the very name, Allenby, recalling to the Arabs the words, Allah and Nebi—God and Prophet—was, to say the least, a singular coincidence, and the general appeared not merely as a brilliant cavalry officer—but as the man of destiny. In irony, the Arabs boasted that the Turks would hold Jerusalem until the waters of the Nile flowed into Palestine, and here, wonderful to relate, was the railway from Egypt, advancing across the desert of Sinai, nearer and nearer to Gaza, a long riband of concrete imbedded in the sand, with a pipe line for this very water on one side and a pipeline for petroleum on the other. In Palestine, the Nile was thus actually flowing, even across the Suez canal itself. The taunt had come true. And it was, too, such a short and silent siege to which the city surrendered. Not a shot was fired and not a stone was displaced. It was an occasion when Jerusalem, so often and so terribly beleaguered, by Babylon, by Persia, by Macedonia, by Rome, by Crusaders, and by Moslems, could claim that she had at last justified the name bestowed upon her as the capital of his kingdom of David, when he called the little stronghold of the Jebusites "the foundation of peace."

MUCH WATER GOES TO WASTE

How Great Saving Might Be Effected by the Proper Application of Methods of Irrigation.

"More than a third of all water actually applied to irrigated lands in the Colorado river basin is worse than wasted," says Dr. Frederic E. Clements, of the Carnegie institution desert laboratory at Tucson, Ariz. "It might be conserved to render thousands of additional acres fertile. It actually reduces the growth of the crops.

"It has been shown," he asserts, "that there is a rapid reduction in bushels of wheat for each additional inch of water above seven inches, and in India it has recently been demonstrated that there is frequently a larger return with one irrigation than with two. It must be realized that air is almost as important to roots as water.

"Apart from the great saving made possible in this way, one nearly as great may be brought about by recognizing that rainfall fluctuates in more or less definite cycles, and by constructing reclamation and irrigation systems on the expansion-contraction basis to take care of this fluctuation. The only time to prepare for a period of rainfall deficit is during a period of excess. If further investigation confirms the theory that rainfall bears a relation to sunspots and that drought may be expected at sun spot maxima and wet periods at the minima, it will be possible to predict the major variations in rainfall and to base the use of water on such knowledge."—Science Service.

How Radium Is Produced.

There is probably no process in industrial chemistry offering as large a reduction of raw material per unit of end product, as that by which radium is now manufactured. The ratio is one gramme (.035 of an ounce) to 250 tons. Eight railway ore cars carry these tons to America's only factory, at Orange, N. J.; but a person could carry away from the factory in a thimble the one gramme. Carbonite ore (the 250 tons) is mined in California, 58 miles from a railway; hence must be carted that distance by teams. Its carting requires easily four days of work. When the plant at Orange gets through with the 250 tons of carbonite, its thimbleful is worth $120,000. But apparently not many 250-ton batches have gone through the mills; for only five ounces of radium exist in the whole world today.

A "crooked" man can get a new slant on life by going straight.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS.

NO. 49

Pursuant to the statute and to the resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of South San Francisco directing this notice, said Board of Trustees hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for doing the following work in said city, to-wit:

Weather Rots Unpainted Buildings

Can You Afford to Rebuild in a Few Years?

YOUR investment in buildings depreciates rapidly unless it is protected from the weather by paint.

A rotting building is a heavy expense. It means either costly repairing or total rebuilding. Paint saves this cost. Use paint now.

The next question is what paint to use. Use the best. It costs less in the long run.

The best paint spreads easily—it saves labor cost. It covers more surface per gallon than "cheap" paint.

And the best paint will serve you five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

So paint your buildings when they need it and use the best paint. That's a dollar-saving policy.

The best paints are scientific in formula and preparation. We've made them for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West.

The best materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc and pure colors—are combined in Fuller's Paints in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.
